2012 Regular Legislative Session – Briefing: February 8, 2012

Four years of state budget deficits coupled with flat revenue estimates made it difficult for the New Mexico Legislature to balance the state budget, as is mandated by law. This year began on a more positive note, and the 2012 session of the Legislature commenced with the promise of a gradual economic turnaround and consensus revenue estimates projecting "new money" in the amount of $254 million. For our purposes, new money is defined as FY 13 projected revenue less FY 12 recurring appropriations. After setting aside $50 million to reverse the 1.75% retirement swap, as mandated by triggers in the law, FY 13 new money is estimated to be $204 million:

The following summarizes how UNM fared in the HED, DFA and LFC budget recommendations for FY 13:

The initial phase of the revised funding formula, as well as the DFA and LFC budget recommendations which are based on this initial phase of the revised formula do not calculate or fund the following:

HB2cs

- Tuition Trigger (Section J, UNM, 1) “If the board of regents increases tuition for the 2012-2013 academic year more than five percent over the rates for the 2011-2012 academic year, the general fund appropriation for the university of New Mexico main campus instruction and general purposes shall be reduced by an amount equal to the incremental amount generated by the tuition rate increase over five percent.”

- RPSP Overhead (Section J) “The policy development and institutional financial oversight program of the higher education department and higher education institutions that receive general fund appropriations for research and public service projects shall not use more than three percent of the research and public service project general fund appropriation for overhead costs and shall use the general fund appropriation for the direct operation of the research and public service project.”

Retirement Issue:

- SB 150 (Sen Ingle, Jennings, et al) reflected revisions approved by the Education Retirement Board and would have reduced COLA and set a minimum age of 55. Senate Education Committee chair
Sen. Cynthia Nava (D, Las Cruces) presented an amendment to the bill which was approved by the committee.

- These are the changes contained in the Nava amendment:
  1. Removes the minimum retirement age as featured in the ERB recommendation
  2. Removes COLA reductions for current and future retirees
  3. Raises the EMPLOYER (read: money put in by state) contribution from 13.9% to 15.44% by 2019
  4. Employees hired after June 30, 2012 will have a minimum retirement age of 55 and 8 year vesting
  5. Employees age 67 must have 8 years service before retirement

- The original bill had an increase in EMPLOYEE contributions from 9.4% to 9.9% in one-tenth percent increments over the next five years. That remains in effect. ERB director Jan Goodwin told the committee this iteration of the ERB fix would reach 78% of solvency by 2030 and 98% by 2040. The bill got a "Do Pass" which will place it in the Senate Finance, where conventional wisdom says there is little appetite for increasing state contributions to retirement. It is in Senate Finance again this afternoon, Feb. 9.

- Other retirement bills like SB 305 (Sen. Cisneros) would significantly raise employee contributions by 1.9% over several years, but that bill has been pulled out of committee by the sponsor. Rep. Mimi Stewart also has an education retirement bill (HB 269) which is tentatively scheduled in House Education on Friday.
